Photos from the Regional 2011 NJ/PA Sustainability Symposium

Photo Caption

March 31, 2011
Camden, NJ

The 2011 NJ/PA Sustainability Symposium on March 31st at Rutgers University-Camden drew approximately 400 attendees from the region's business, academic, healthcare and government sectors.

Above, speakers assemble before the opening keynote session. (From left: Mitchell R. Cohen, Esq. and Frank J. Riesenburger, Esq., from sponsor Flaster Greenberg; Brad A. Molotsky of sponsor Brandywine Realty Trust; John G. Koch, Esq., Flaster Greenberg; and Rayman Solomon, Dean and Professor of Law, from sponsor Rutgers School of Law-Camden.)

At left, symposium sponsor Flaster Greenberg's Frank Riesenburger, Esq., who led a panel discussion on electric vehicles, pauses with two conference attendees to examine the electric car on display for the event.

Symposium sponsors assemble before the luncheon keynote session. Luncheon keynote speaker, NJ Assemblyman Upendra Chivukula, is seen here with (from left), Mitchell R. Cohen, Franklin J. Riesenburger, John G. Koch, from symposium sponsor Flaster Greenberg PC. At the far right is Brad A. Molotsky of symposium sponsor Brandywine Realty Trust.