
Flaster Greenberg to Present Legally Speaking Executive Roundtable on the Future of Physician Practices

Press Release

August 29, 2013

Asset Protection in an Uncertain Economic Environment

Cherry Hill, NJ

Flaster Greenberg has been involved in thousands of physician practice matters over the years and serves as trusted counsel to several of the largest practices in the area. As the healthcare landscape continues to evolve, we thought it might be valuable to share our experience and thoughts about current trends with senior practice leaders in a free executive roundtable offered in our Cherry Hill office.

Steve Greenberg, Chair of Flaster Greenberg's Business & Corporate Department and Healthcare Practice Group, will moderate the roundtable, joined by other firm attorneys, who are noted below.

Asset Protection in an Uncertain Economic Environment

Low interest rates and the currently strong stock market are great, but the future still seems a little hazy. Flaster Greenberg has been working with doctors for decades to analyze their needs and develop plans that protect their assets for future generations, as well as provide income for retirement. Interestingly, within our Trusts and Estates group, we take different approaches. In this executive roundtable, we will discuss and analyze some of our current ideas with a goal of educating attendees about some of the asset protection options available in today's uncertain environment.
