

Securities

Our attorneys are experienced in defending securities fraud claims against corporations and their officers and directors, as well as prosecuting investor claims against brokers and advisors. Working with their corporate and securities lawyer colleagues, Flaster Greenberg's litigators are able to identify quickly the material legal and business issues to achieve a successful, cost-efficient and expeditious resolution of the dispute. Our litigation attorneys are also experienced in defending class actions, derivative actions and other forms of complex litigation involving claims of securities fraud and other allegations of violations of the securities laws.
