

“Fake” Profiles on Social Media Websites such as Twitter, Facebook and LinkedIn

Our attorneys have also been successful in getting profiles removed from social media websites such as Twitter, Facebook and LinkedIn, when those profiles are “fake” (designed to appear to be created and operated by our clients, when they are operated by a different person or company), or otherwise violate our clients’ legal rights.

Our practice includes an awareness of the evolving role of social media websites and our role in protecting our clients’ reputations and businesses online as social media websites continue to evolve.

Attorneys

Eric R. Clendening