

Cybersecurity & Data Privacy Law

Our Cybersecurity & Data Privacy attorneys advise businesses on the complex and evolving laws and regulations governing the protection of private information.

We counsel our clients on appropriate procedures and requirements for collecting, transmitting, safeguarding, and storing data, including financial information, personal health information, credit report information, and other sensitive information. We negotiate and draft data ownership and usage agreements and work with our clients to ensure compliance with the law, company policies, and current industry best practices.

Our attorneys handle data privacy issues related to digital advertising, mobile apps, data analytics, telemarketing, and cloud services. Recently, we assisted clients in ensuring compliance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) enacted across the European Union.
