

What's the Next Step for the Foxwoods License?

The Legal Intelligencer

March 2011

Kevin Greenberg and Tami Bogutz Steinberg

Now that the Pennsylvania Gaming Control Board has revoked their license on December 16, 2010, what is in store for the future of the Foxwoods Casino? In this article, Kevin Greenberg and Tami Steinberg consider possible scenarios, and discuss disposition of the $50 million license fee, including "the one option economically not in the best interest of the city or the commonwealth, is to let the license go unused." Click here for the full article.

ATTORNEYS MENTIONED

Tami Bogutz Steinberg