Courtney E. Dolaway is a member of Flaster Greenberg's Trusts & Estates, Taxation, and Business & Corporate Departments. She concentrates her practice on complex estate planning, estate administration, business succession, and general corporate matters. Ms. Dolaway also serves as chair of the firm's Women's Initiative Committee. Prior to joining the firm, she practiced at a boutique estate planning firm.

Ms. Dolaway represents individuals and business owners in their estate plans and corporate planning. Her focus is on determining each client's particular situation and providing them a custom-tailored plan to assist them, their families and, if applicable, their businesses. She is particularly adept at handling larger estates as well as estate matters that have potential litigation.

A magna cum laude graduate of Washington and Lee University with a double major in math and politics, Ms. Dolaway is able to integrate her math acumen and Masters in Taxation to provide unique insights and strategies to estate planning. Her extensive experience with Court Accountings and Orphans' Court litigation enhances her understanding of the problems that can develop in estate administration matters and in avoiding similar problems for her clients.

Licensed to practice law in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, along with the United States District Courts for the District of New Jersey and the Eastern and Middle Districts of Pennsylvania as well as the U.S. Tax Court, Ms. Dolaway received her J.D. and LL.M. with a focus on estate planning from Villanova University Charles Widger Law School.
