Gene Goroschko serves as Flaster Greenbergs Chief Information Officer. In this role, he leads the firms efforts and advances in technology and is responsible for strategic IT planning, security and implementation. He oversees the staff members within the IT department who provide the firms employees with technical assistance in network operations, end-user support, telecom, training, and practice support.

Gene is a highly accomplished and innovative CIO who, through the course of his career, has partnered with stakeholders to foster consensus and build unified approaches to achieve shared business goals, overcome business challenges, minimize business risk, and position groups for sustainable growth.

Prior to joining Flaster Greenberg, Gene served as Vice President of Information Technology at a leading private equity firm that partners with veterinary practices. Before that, he was the CIO for a nationally recognized development and management partner for GI-focused ambulatory surgery centers.

Gene earned his Bachelor of Science in Information Technology from Capella University and in 2016, was certified as a HIPAA Privacy Security Expert (CHPSE).
