
Employment Law Updates and Cybersecurity Challenges: Guidance for Businesses and Employers in a COVID-19 World

June 3, 2020

Flaster Greenberg is presenting this series to help businesses learn how to cope with the wide-range of issues arising from the COVID-19 pandemic. As new laws and executive orders are enacted, business owners and employers must remain informed in order to be properly positioned for long-term success. This latest webinar will cover emerging topics, including:

- Employment Law Updates
 - Applying leave laws to employees who are recalled to work
 - Preparing for risk of exposure in the workplace
 - Unemployment issues and recall
 - What to do when employees feel unsafe
 - Strategies for limiting liability
- Cybersecurity and Data Privacy Issues
 - COVID-19-related data breaches
 - Keeping your business secure
 - Proposed federal legislation regarding data privacy and cybersecurity during COVID-19
 - Updates on committee hearings and bill passage
 - Implications for businesses subject to the new laws

Should you wish to submit your questions ahead of time, email marketing@flastergreenberg.com by 10 AM EST on Tuesday, June 2. You'll also have the opportunity to submit questions during the live webinar.
