The building and construction industry in New Jersey has experienced significant project delays as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, and many developers are discovering they need to change the way they run their businesses. Some are beginning to feel the financial pinch while others are seeing delays with their vendors. In a time when the future is so unknown, it helps to be aware of all of your options.

The panel's combined legal experience in the area of reorganization and financial restructuring of businesses has helped many companies navigate economic downturns and stay afloat, and in some cases, reorganize. The presenters have also been analyzing the impacts that existing, new and proposed laws will have on the building and construction industry during this uncertain and unprecedented time.
