

Regional Spotlight: Emerging Industry Incubators

September 14, 2012

Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce

From fashion to technology, industry-specific incubators throughout Greater Philadelphia are changing the way entrepreneurs and field experts collaborate and innovate.

Join us as a panel of incubator residents and leaders discuss the economic impact of these unique work spaces and explore how they are helping foster innovation in our region. In addition, they will highlight how these spaces are attracting and growing talent in Greater Philadelphia.

Each program in the four-part Regional Spotlight series will visit a key area in the Greater Philadelphia region and will feature top business leaders, economic developers and/or local officials who will discuss their involvement in our region's leading initiatives. In addition, Select Greater Philadelphia will provide an update on the region's latest economic development.

Panelists:

Chirantan Bhatt, Founder and CEO, TapCliq, and tenant at the Project Liberty Digital Incubator

Elissa Bloom, Executive Director, Philadelphia Fashion Incubator

Frank S. Keith, Executive Director Emeritus, Burlington County College Incubators

Josh Kopelman, Partner, First Round Capital
