Please note the change in date due to the recent snow storm.

The federal government and many individual states have focused on identifying and penalizing employers who misclassify employees as independent contractors and the possible adverse consequences for misclassification pose a significant risk for employers. On January 22nd, we will present a CPE program on the importance of properly classifying workers as 1099 independent contractors vs. W-2 employees.

Attendees at the seminar will learn:

- How to distinguish between employee and independent contractor status
- Legal consequences of misclassifying workers
- “Best practices” to limit, or avoid, liability
- IRS, DOL, NJ and PA independent contractor tests
- Keys to drafting effective independent contractor agreements
