

Automotive

Flaster Greenberg's Automotive Industry Group adds value to automotive and truck dealerships by providing focused legal services from attorneys with diverse backgrounds and practices who work with and understand this unique industry. Our knowledge of the automotive and truck dealership industry provides value and good business sense.

We help clients achieve their goals by addressing the issues and concerns that impact automotive and truck dealerships, with solutions as varied and complex as the dealerships themselves. Our knowledge of government regulations and extensive business experience help shape winning strategies when dealing with land use, zoning, environmental issues, employment and labor law, business and tax planning, and dealer/manufacturer relationships.

Unique in the region, Flaster Greenberg is a multidisciplinary mid-sized law firm capable of assembling an experienced team from a comprehensive range of practice areas. We can identify problems and opportunities associated with automotive and truck dealerships, and provide the perspective and experience needed to pursue prudent courses of action.
