
Flaster Greenberg Transportation Attorney Moderates Panel Discussion at 2023 Transportation Lawyers Association Annual Conference

Press Release

April 17, 2023

Transportation Attorney and Flaster Greenberg Shareholder Chris Merrick will moderate an interactive panel discussion, “Stranger Things: How to be an Eleven and defeat the Demogorgons in Vecna’s Upside Down Derivative Trucking Liability Claim” on April 29, 2023, at this year’s Transportation Lawyers Association (TLA) Annual Conference in San Diego, CA.

The presentation’s creative science fiction theme is inspired by the popular Netflix show “Stranger Things” and the panelists will probe into combating efforts by plaintiff’s counsel to implement “Vecna’s playbook” by interjecting claims in trucking litigation to drive up the value of their cases. Motor carriers and their counsel will learn innovative strategies to prevent negligent entrustment, hiring, retention, or training claims from being a detonator for punitive damages in the wake of a trucking accident. The panel will also discuss the elements of each claim, defenses, discovery strategies, apportionment of fault issues, the impact of a motor carrier’s admission of vicarious liability, and other best practices. Upon completion attendees will have the power to close Vecna’s gate between worlds for good.
