

A Truckload of Thanks

Press Release

November 23, 2010

Cherry Hill, NJ & Philadelphia, PA

Flaster Greenberg PC recently donated a truckload of used computer equipment to Nonprofit Technology Resources (NTR), a company that provides skill development and training to low-income people as well as technology support to nonprofit organizations in our region. NTR trains people to repair the equipment, and then sells the refurbished hardware at affordable prices from their community “thrift” store.

Filling up the truck are (left) Jeffrey D. McShane, Director of Information Technology, Flaster Greenberg and (right) Steven Feldman, NTR’s Hardware Manager & Instructor.

To find out more about NTR or to donate equipment, go to <http://www.ntronline.org/>.