Flaster Greenberg is proud to announce that the firm's website has been selected as a winner in the 2011 American Web Design Award competition for www.flastergreenberg.com, which was launched in January 2011 with a complete redesign.

The American Web Design Awards is an annual recognition of well-designed websites and online communications that attract audiences, disseminate ideas and information, generate response, and promote products and services.

This is the firm's third award since the launch of the redesigned website ten months ago. Noted specifically for the ease of navigation and clean design lines, Flaster Greenberg's website is in good company. Other honorees include SEPTA, White & Case and the American Society of Landscape Architects.
