
FG's Steven Sacharow to Join NJICLE Panel on Hot Tips for Family Law

Press Release

October 16, 2013

Flaster Greenberg shareholder and nationally recognized family law attorney Steven B. Sacharow has been tapped by the New Jersey Institute of Continuing Legal Education (NJICLE) to participate as a panelist at the "Hot Tips for Family Law" seminar on November 11, 2013.

This fast-paced panel discussion, entitled "Rules are made to be broken: exceptions, dissents and loopholes," will highlight unique situations when you should consider stepping "out of bounds." Panelists will share their considerable family law experience about when to step outside the perimeter of routine practice in pursuit of the right result for your client.

Sacharow's representation of clients includes matters involving child custody, parenting time, child support, alimony and equitable distribution of assets. It also consists of legal aspects of relationship formation including cohabitation and prenuptial agreements. His family law practice further includes representation of individuals involved in same sex relationships, including cohabitation agreements and dissolution of relationships, involving both civil unions and non-formalized relationships, as well as mediation (as a mediator and representing clients in mediation) and collaborative divorce. Additionally, his adoption practice is comprised of domestic and interstate adoptions, agency or private, and he has extensive experience in the litigation of contested adoption matters.

The "Hot Tips for Family Law" seminar will take place on Monday, November 11, 2013 from 9:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m. at the New Jersey Law Center in New Brunswick, NJ and has been approved for 4.5 NJ CLE credits. For more information, or to register, click here.
