

FG Serves as South Jersey Host for the 2018 ADL Supreme Court Review

Press Release

July 23, 2018
Cherry Hill, NJ

On July 10th, Flaster Greenberg was pleased to be the South Jersey host of the 2018 ADL Supreme Court Review, which was presented via live webcast in the firm's Cherry Hill office. Over 25 people were in attendance to hear from distinguished legal scholars about the most important cases in the Supreme Court term, including the Masterpiece Cakeshop case affecting the LGBT rights, the challenges to the President's "Muslim Ban," and a major redistricting case. They also discussed the continued challenges to the President's executive orders in the lower courts and what to expect at the Supreme Court next year.

The event was presented by the Anti-Defamation League and the National Constitution Center.
