August 27, 2022

Three Flaster Greenberg attorneys were named by ROI-NJ to their annual "Law Influencers" list for 2022. According to the publication, the list is the "best the state has to offer." From business transactions to intellectual property disputes, HR issues to cyberconcerns, health care challenges, everything and anything involving real estate — and a whole host of other needs — we honor the best of the best.

The list aims to "honor the lawyers in New Jersey that have the most influence on business issues and transactions — and/or running the business of a firm." Only attorneys for whom legal work at a law firm is their primary focus or source of income were considered.
