Gene Marks, The Philadelphia Inquirer writer, recently interviewed Flaster Greenberg Labor & Employment Shareholder Susie Cirilli about the new overtime rules coming from the Department of Labor. Mr. Marks reviews how small businesses can prepare for possible changes to federal regulations on overtime pay. Read the article here. Login may be required.

Mr. Marks wrote, "Will the amount of overtime compensation that you are required to pay your employees go up soon? It certainly looks like it."

"We're not sure of the details yet," said Susie Cirilli, a lawyer with Flaster Greenberg in Center City. "But we're telling our clients that they should definitely expect these changes to happen sometime soon."

For starters, Cirilli is advising her clients to revisit all their employee job descriptions.
